Zombie Rules of Conduct:

Put on a good show! Stay in character but don't get carried away. You are responsible for your own safety and good conduct.

1. Use the "haunted house" rule in that you are not to touch anyone.
2. Do not attempt to scare anyone who is not a willing participant. If anyone is freaking out, turn and shamle in the opposite direction. Avoid confrontations!
3. If your walk is anywhere near streets or roadways, stay on the pavement unless crossing the street. When crossing, it's OK to "break character" and cross quickly. Think fast "New Dawn of the Dead" zombies verses the slower "Old Dawn of the Dead" zombies when crossing the street. Blocking traffic is a crime and anyone doing so could be arrested.
4. No alcohol for under 18's.
5. Be conscious of your fake blood when in the pubs and venues, make every attempt not to leave it behind, especially on their upholstery (so try to keep your bums and hands free from blood)
6. No littering, destruction of property, or any other illegal activity. This includes smearing fake blood, banging on windows, etc. The organisers will not be held responsible for any damaged property. Pretend the location of the walk is your own neighbourhood and show the utmost respect. This event is a tradition, so we don't want to ruin it. Remember, the press will be watching (along with the police) and this event could get world-wide news coverage. Let's put on a good show.
7. Keep in mind you might be asked for a picture ID at the pubs and your zombie face might not match your picture ID. If you are refused entry, please understand the doorman is only doing his job.
8. Please do not attempt to push your way into any business if you are not welcome.
